“Overview of Drug Development and UMB Resources”

Rana Quraishi, Ph.D.

Director of UM New Ventures,
University of Maryland, Baltimore

In this talk, Dr. Quraishi will be discussing demystifying the process of drug development given that it takes seven to ten years, costs millions of dollars, there is no return on investment until the drug is approved, and failure rates are very high. Additionally, there is a complex regulatory pathway and a lot of competition. Dr. Quraishi will discuss how all this is managed. She will spend the second part of the talk discussing services and support the New Ventures group offers and is developing if you are interested in the commercialization of your discovery.
